Without connected follow-through	With SkillSmith
Recognition is separated from the contribution it is meant to acknowledge.	Configure the reward or incentive criteria used when a site chooses to recognize a reviewed contribution.
The recognition resource is chosen before its details are inspected.	Review the catalog item, rule content, badge and points before choosing the resource for the recognition activity.
The recognition rule or item details are detached from the choice.	Inspect the published rule content and selected item's description and points so the recognition choice has an explicit basis.
